JMC 131 (in-person)

What is Mental Health First Aid?

A skills-based training course that helps participants better prepare for difficult conversations or situations. In professional and personal settings, we often find ourselves trying to navigate mental health and substance-use issues. Focus time to develop a skill that may change the life of an employee, student, friend, or family member.

*ASA & HR Partnership

"No person in the United States shall, based on sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance."

JUNE 23, 2022

Join us in celebrating this significant piece of Civil Rights legislation with a virtual event. It chronicles decades long challenges in fighting sex discrimination.

Title IX Reflection

First comprehensive federal law that prohibits sex discrimination in education programs and activities that receive federal financial assistance.

Does not only protect females; it protects all Students, Faculty, and Staff.

Foundational to create gender equitable schools, including athletic programs.

Welcome, new employees! At OCCC, we care about giving our employees everything they need to perform their best.
